

District 7450 Rotary Leader

Volume 9 Number 10

April, 2015

Message from DG Doug

I want to share with you the stories of two District Rotarians that moved me greatly upon hearing them. By singling out these two men, I do not want to imply that the many other Rotarians I do know and the countless other Rotarians I do not know, men and women alike, do not also display this same kind of love or affection for Rotary. But these two men, whom I never met, "Shine" for me and for Rotary, and I believe, their stories will "Shine" for you as well!

They are Past District Governor (1972-1973) Kenneth B. Erdman of the Chestnut Hill and Cheltenham-Rockledge Rotary Clubs, and Charles Alexander, M.D. member of the now defunct Springfield Club and, until his passing last month, a member of the Haverford Rotary Club.

I met the adult son of PDG Ken Erdman, deceased, on a bus ride from our hotel to the Rotary International Convention venue in Sydney, Australia last June. As Rotarians do, when travelling together, we shared where we were from and the younger Erdman, a Rotarian from Hawaii, spoke up when he heard I was from Philadelphia. He told me that his father, Ken Erdman, has been a PDG in our District and later served as a Director of Rotary International. While these were wonderful accomplishments and worthy of note in themselves, it was what his son said next that really moved me. He said that after serving as RI Director, Rotarian Ken returned to his Club and became the Editor of the Club's Newsletter. His son said he performed this task for years. At one point, his son said he asked him why he was doing this relatively modest task given his years of much greater visibility in the Rotarian firmament. Ken's reply to his son went something like this---"Well son, our newsletter is really important to our Club and our Community and somebody has to do it. And, it seems, the Club members must think I do it OK as the Club, year after year, keeps asking me to continue."

The second story is more contemporaneous as it is about recently deceased Rotarian Charles Alexander, M.D. of the Haverford Rotary Club. I did not know Charles or how important Rotary was to this distinguished ophthalmologist until I attend his memorial service and funeral last month. Haverford Club President Dara Gans, along with fellow Haverford Rotarians, let Sharon Quick (District Secretary) and I know of the funeral arrangement for Rotarian Charles. Sharon commented to me when we learned of his passing, that she had been helping him access and use DaCdb as he was serving as the Secretary for his new Club, the Rotary Club of Haverford.

So immediately it became pretty clear that Charles was willing to pitch in and help Rotary. And, since his colleagues at the Haverford Rotary made a special point of notifying me of his passing, I thought I would attend the Memorial Service. And I am so glad that I did!

Teamwork makes 'One Book' program a winner

Rotary Clubs of Chester, Glen Mills-Thornbury, Glen Riddle and Swarthmore contributed $3000 for the Pennsylvania "One Book" program, which was matched by $3,000 grant from the Rotary Foundation for to purchase 2400 books. Rotarians distributed the books to Delaware County's Head Start and pre-kindergarten students and read the book to the students. On hand to receive the RI Foundation grant from District Foundation chair Vasanth Prabhu (seated, second from right) are (seated, from left) Glen Riddle Rotarian Pat Natale, Chester Rotarian Kimberly Koterba, Prabhu, Glen Mills-Thornbury Rotarian AG Karen Mazzarella and (standing, from left) Chrissy Longbottom of Delaware County Library System and Swarthmore Rotarian Hilliard Pouncy.

District Training Assembly Set for May 11 in K of P

District Governor-Elect Chad Rosenberg has invited all Rotarians to the District Training Assembly, Monday, May 11, at 5:30 p.m. at the Crowne Plaza, 260 Mall Blvd., King of Prussia.

Thanks to research at Duke:

A new role for the polio virus

By Jane Williams, District Polio Plus chair, PAG/PP Ardmore Rotary Club

The polio virus has taken on new meaning over the last several years for researchers at Duke University and their 22 clinical trial patients who have been diagnosed with glioblastoma, a relentless and extremely deadly type of brain tumor.

Researchers at Duke have been infusing their patients' brain tumors with a re-engineered polio virus with remarkable results. Though the doctors are reluctant to use the terms "miracle" and "cure", one leading cancer specialist with 34 years experience, calls it, "..... the most promising therapy I've seen in my career."

On March 26, CBS's 60 Minutes Sunday night program had an extensive report about the research and particularly about two patients who have survived after the treatment for 33 and 34 months. To see the segment in its entirety, go to: <http://www.cbsnews.com/news/polio-cancer-treatment-duke-university-60-minutes-scott-pelley/>.

This new type of cancer treatment is called immunology which represents a paradigm shift in how cancer is treated. It results from awakening the power of the body's own immune system.

All human cancers develop a shield or shroud of protective measures that make them invisible to the immune system. This method of treatment attempts to reverse the invisibility. By infecting the tumor with the polio virus, it actually removes this protective shield, telling and enabling the immune system to come in and attack.

So essentially what happens is inside the tumor you have a polio infection which sets off an alarm for the immune system to get to work and kill the infection, which in this case is the tumor. The polio starts the killing, but it's the immune system that does most of the damage.

Researchers around the world have been experimenting with a number of other viruses to accomplish the same results, but the Duke researchers chose polio and have been very pleased with results to date. The researchers re-engineered the polio virus by removing a key genetic sequence so the virus could not survive and cause paralysis or death because it can't reproduce in normal cells.

But in cancer cells it does reproduce and in the process of replicating, it releases toxins that poison the tumor cells by attaching itself to a receptor found on the surface of the cells that make up nearly every kind of solid tumor. And because it is a relatively big molecule in the brain's tight space, it is limited in how far it can travel.

One doctor described the infusion procedure like a "sniper's bullet". It needs to hit the target so it doesn't go to the wrong places.

For the last 30 years, Rotarians have looked at the polio virus with only the desire to erase it from the face of the earth because of all the pain, suffering and death it caused. Now it is refreshing to know that it is bringing new hope and extended life to cancer patients with not only glioblastoma but also with lung cancers, breast cancers, colorectal cancers, prostate cancers, pancreatic cancers, liver cancers, and renal cancers.

Note: I encourage you to view the 60 Minutes sequence for more information. It is truly an astounding story and one that is especially personal to me. Five years ago my best friend was diagnosed with glioblastoma on October 19 and died just two months later on December 31. It is a voracious and horrible cancer. JW

Message from DG Doug

Everyone who spoke at that service—, his Rabbi, members of his family, his medical school roommate, and his newer friends in his retirement home setting — all, every one, without prompting from anyone present, remarked that Charles was not only a father, a friend, a husband, and a physician, but also a Rotarian and a very active and happy one at that. Charles had at least 40 years of perfect attendance, maybe more. Where ever he traveled, he sought out a Rotary Club to visit; what ever he was doing, he sought to identify a Rotary project or connection to visit or support or discuss. Charles did not need a "big" title or job in Rotary in order to love Rotary. He just loved being a Rotarian. Thank You Charles!

These two stories really capture what I have been privileged to see and hear during my year of service to my fellow Rotarians. So, so many of you are quietly, patiently, but determinedly, doing the good works of Rotary as we, together, seek a more Peaceful and Prosperous world for all. Thank you Rotarians of District 7450!

At Freedoms Foundation :*RYLA hones leadership skills for 117 students

Singers wanted for District Glee Club

Paul Welde, director of the Rotary District 7450 Glee Club (right) has issued an invitation to Rotarians, who enjoy singing, to join the District Glee Club for the annual “Rotary Night at the Phillies” game, August 4. The Glee Club is scheduled to lead the National Anthem during pre-game ceremonies at Citizens Bank Park. The Phillies will take on the Los Angeles Dodgers and former Phillies’ all-star shortstop Jimmy Rollins. If interested, contact Welde at paulwelde@verizon.net.

Rotary Club of Bensalem welcomes two new members

The Rotary Club of Bensalem welcomed two new members during March. Bernie Salera (center) was inducted March 10. Club membership chair Rosemary Adiletto (left) welcomes Bernie, whose sponsor is Marc Cohen (right). Bernie established the Asian American Cultural Exchange Association, a Bensalem based inbound exchange program which matches Chinese students to welcoming American Schools and host families. He works with older Americans, and is developing a Classical Arts Cable Network to spread his love of instrumental music, ballet and other culture. Nick Smith (above, left) was inducted at the March 17 Club meeting. On hand were his sponsor, Bensalem Superintendent of Schools David Baugh, and Club membership chair Rosemary Adiletto. Nick is an insurance underwriter and has chef experience.

Langhorne Rotarians clean roadway, welcome member

The Rotary Club of Langhorne took part in the semi-annual Adopt-a-Highway program April 2 (right) when a group of 10 members removed litter on Bellevue Avenue and Winchester Avenue. The Club repeats the effort each fall. At the Club's April 9 meeting, (left) the Club inducted Peter Manetas of Yardley as a member. He is director of advancement at Holy Ghost Preparatory School in Bensalem and was a member of the Trenton, N.J. Rotary Club for 25 years.. Welcoming him is Club President Lori Hoppmann.

The annual Langhorne Pet Fair will be on Saturday, May 9th at the Mayor's Playground in Langhorne from 10 to 3 at the Mayor's Playground. There will be vendors, food, free pony rides and petting zoo for children, as well as an exotic animal show.

Philadelphia Rotarians try hand as artists for PolioPlus

The Rotary Club of Philadelphia conducted a wonderful social evening as well as a fundraiser for polio eradication worldwide on March 31, at Studio Incamminati, the art school of Nelson Shanks, who is perhaps the world's greatest portrait painter. As a highlight, each attendee was given an opportunity to be an artist. The evening was made possible through the generosity of Leona and Nelson Shanks and Jay Pennie. Pennie is executive director of Studio Incamminati and a member of the Rotary Club of Philadelphia.

Glen Mills-Thornbury Club hosts Designer Bingo May 3

The Glen Mills-Thornbury Rotary Club will sponsor Designer Bag Bingo, Sunday, May 3, at the Penn Oaks Country Club in West Chester. Tickets are $45 per person and can be purchased at the Club's web-page, GMTRotary.com. Doors open at noon and games begin at 1 p.m. Admission ticket includes light fare, and food. Proceeds will finance Club service projects.

Philadelphia Rotary Club Foundation presents checks to Achieve Now, Musicopia

The Rotary Club of Philadelphia Foundation presented checks to Renee Archawski (left) executive director of Achieve Now and Denise Kinney, executive director of Musicopia. Achieve Now is an organization dedicated to improving reading and math achievement in schools across Philadelphia. "Achieve Now's" Read Now program has had a demonstrable record of success in helping struggling readers in many schools and more schools are on its waiting list. This Philadelphia Rotary Foundation grant of $3750.00 will extend this Read Now program to reach more students in need in Philadelphia. Musicopia is an organization that strives to restore and rekindle music education where there is none or where the opportunities of music education have been limited for young people. Musicopia also reconditions older musical instruments to make them very useable by young people. Philadelphia Rotary Foundation presented a grant of $2,000 for Musicopia.

Rotary Global Scholar says thanks to PDG Joan and Joe Batory for support

Dr. Yuko Shiima (left), a Rotary Global Grant Scholar and pediatrician from Japan, has been hosted by Philadelphia Rotarians Joan and Joseph Batory many times during the past two years while Dr. Shiima studied and did research at Philadelphia's Children's Hospital. Dr. Shiima, who will return to Japan in late spring, recently presented the Batory's with a beautiful calligraphy present which was created in Japan.

In "One Book" program Glen Riddle Rotarians sign up to read to young students

Flagg] to read to local children in the Mount Hope Church pre-school program. The reading project is part of the Pennsylvania "One Book" program.

Shady Brook Rotary Club salutes "Students of the Month"

The Rotary Club of Shady Brook welcomed DG Doug Blazey at the Club's April 15 monthly dinner meeting and honored Lucey Leinheiser and Michael Geonnottito,

Swarthmore Fun Fair set May 3

The Swarthmore Rotary Club will host its 14th Annual Swarthmore Charity Fun-Fair, Sunday, May 3 in Swarthmore Town Center.

At last year's Fun-Fair, over 65 charities that participated raised money for worthy causes that helped thousands of people in need. Invitations have been extended to 100 charities to participate this year.

The Fun Fair is an all-charity event where charities and non-profits create fun events in their booths and guests pay to participate, and help raise money for the charities. The theme is "Having Fun Helping Others".

The Fun-Fair is managed by the Rotary Club of Swarthmore on behalf of Swarthmore Town Center, Inc. The kick-off parade at 1 p.m. will be followed by continuous entertainment on the three raised sound stages around the Village until 5 p.m. A variety of food will be available at the food court during the fair. For more information, contact Marv Geib at marveib@comcast.net.
